1. Introduction/Background

1.1 The Director of Public Health (DPH) is required to produce an independent annual report on the health and wellbeing of their population highlighting key issues.

1.2 It is an important vehicle by which the DPH can identify key issues, celebrate success, flag up problems, report progress and, thereby, serve their local populations. It will also be a key resource to inform local inter-agency action.

1.3 Aims of the Report

- Contribute to improving the health and wellbeing of local populations.
- Reduce health inequalities.
- Promote action for better health, through measuring progress towards health targets.
- Assist with the planning and monitoring of local programmes and services that impact on health over time.
- Be relevant to the health of local populations with information analysed at the most appropriate population level.
- Must be integral to planning across all sectors and needs to promote action.
- Should include a clear set of recommendations that are targeted, realistic and achievable (SMART).

2. Key findings

2.1 This year's annual report, which been produced as a short film to explore the emotional wellbeing and mental health of children and young people and the services and resources which are available to support them. The film recognises the importance of building resilience, promoting good mental health and wellbeing, and enabling children and young people to live healthier, happier lives long into adulthood.

2.2 There is no single reason why children and young people experience problems with their mental health. Growing up in challenging home environments such as living in poor quality and overcrowded housing or living in a chaotic home environment can all have a negative impact on mental health and wellbeing. Some other risk factors include; having a disability, being a looked after child or a young carer, not being in education, employment or training, being exposed to domestic abuse or having a parent with mental health problems.

2.3 In Sefton, there are more people from most of these vulnerable groups, when compared to the national averages. We know that experiencing mental health problems before the age of 14 can affect educational attainment, physical health and impact on social relationships; therefore, leading to poorer outcomes in later life. Investing in early intervention programmes to develop emotional resilience will enable children and young people to be able to cope better with difficult circumstances and do well in school and in life. This could help to reduce and prevent potential problems from developing to crisis point and lead to less use of health and social care services in the future.

- 2.4 We are working in partnership with others to create the right conditions and environments to promote and improve the mental health and wellbeing of children and young people. As featured in the film, leisure and cultural activities (which encourage children and young people to talk about their feelings and emotions in a safe place) are delivered by schools, Council and community based organisations such as Big Love Sista, Litherland Moss Primary School, Merseyside Youth Association SPACE, Well Young Person Team and Y-Kids. In addition to this community and voluntary groups such as sports and dance groups, Scouts and Girl Guiding groups also play an important role in supporting the mental health of children and young people.
- 2.5 However, to make a real difference, it needs to continue to be everybody's responsibility. If you are a local business, a service provider, policy maker, teacher, carer, friend or a family member; we all have a role to play to create a caring, supportive system that will make children and young people feel safe, happy and improve their lives.
- 2.6 The Council and partner agencies have established a steering group to drive forward improvement of the emotional health and wellbeing of children and young people in Sefton. The group has been tasked by the Sefton Health and Wellbeing Board with developing strategic approaches to transform systems and services to improve outcomes. It has been recognised as being innovative and effective by OFSTED because of the input from schools into the partnership.

- 1 Working with partners and interested stakeholders to extend and promote good mental wellbeing in schools and communities, making sure that activities to help children and young people to develop mental resilience skills are available and used to their full potential.
 - 2 Taking a collaborative approach to deal with Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs) and reduce their impact on young people and their families/carers.
 - 3 Further develop and widen the availability of suicide prevention training to specifically cover children and young people, making sure that it is available throughout Sefton.
